Casting Mikaal Zulfiqar plays the male lead Producer Momina Duraid, and director Ahson Talish mutually chose the cast which includes Mikaal Zulfigar, [7][8][9] Ushna Shah, [10][11][12][5] Sana Nawaz[13][9][14] Kubra Khan, [9][4][5] Shebzad Sheikh and Imran Ashraf to portray the leading roles. Rani was just the one I had been looking for. The depth, the crudeness, the rawness and the reality is something the artist inside me had been craving since I joined the industry. Rani reminded me of why I became an actor" [20] Speaking about her role Shah said "Rani evolves a lot as she is an amalgamation of things: The walk was inspired by a lady who used to work in our house when I was a child; ironically her name was also Rani. The dialect was watching the working class growing up in Lahore. A lot of the mannerisms were things I observed in young girls begging on the street. So yes there was some character research involved at my end but everything else was thanks to the genius, Ahson Talish. He crafted the crassness of Rani beautifully, he created her. [20] Alongside Shah, Lollywood film actress Sana Nawaz was approached by Mahesh Waswani for the role of Nigar Begum. [13][9][14] The series was her second Hum TV project where she portrayed a challenging role, speaking about her character Nawaz says "I play a character called Nigar, I really liked this role because it was a dream come true to work along a man who is so talented and understands his actors so well and gets the best performance out of them".[14] Apart from primary casting, production team also finalised to portray the role of Raani's father, the actor had brief appearances in the introduction since he was busy directing Sammi for Hum TV. was finalised to portray the role of Raani's father, the actor had brief appearances in the introduction since he was busy directing Sammi for Hum TV.
